

Dear Sir/Madam,

We are currently working on several initiatives that all tie into one another around health, education and commerce to be driven by Indigenous people.

It has been suggested that I log these into the your system for further discussion as they engage with young people as well.

The programs work on pride, ownership, self determination and creating change for their mob.

Below are the initiatives currently being worked on:-

Bush Tukka Fusion- Indigenous owned and run mobile food trailers to be built at the prison by Indigenous men to develop Indigenous micro business's around the NT.

I have attached the proposal forwarded to the Prisons Department at the request of Tim Cross which I believe is before the NT Corrections Commissioner for consideration.

Bush Tukka Fusion VET Training - currently being developed in association with CDU and the Education Department for schools and for Juvenile Detainees and those in prison.

Quail Farming - an initiative to develop an industry around the production of smoked quail farmed by Indigenous people. We are looking to trial the pilot in association with Corrections Dept.

The product will be marketed under the Bush Tukka Fusion label as an Indigenous product to the local restaurant market. Marketing will be undertaken by Indigenous VET students as part of their VET training.

Once the model is proven at the adult prison we would look to engage kids in Don Dale with a smaller model.

Those kids undertaking community service could undertake training under a VET program at the adult prison to become Quail farmers and producers of Smoked Quail. The program will involve raising, slaughtering, smoking and packaging of the end product and marketing to the restaurants.

On completion of their training the kids will collect their day old chicks from the hatching facility and grow them out at home through to maturity (7 weeks).

They will then return to the facility and carry out the slaughter, smoking and packaging. On delivering the quail to the restaurants they will keep the money.

The same process will take place for the kids on release from Don Dale.

On proving up the model these facilities will also be set up at the major remote communities to supply fresh meat and also the smoked product can be sent back via the barges to Darwin. This will give those coming out of prison and going back onto country a new role be it as an employee or as a farmer growing out the birds at home.

The submission is attached that is before the NT Corrections Commissioner for his consideration.

Malpa- Young Doctors a hygiene program that has already been conducted in over 40 schools with 1000 young doctors graduating at the end of this year.

Recycle Soap for Kids on Community - along with Sunrise Rotary, the Hotels Association and the many hotels in Darwin we are looking to have the used soap melted, disinfected and repackaged by those in the prisons. The soap is then sent out to the remote communities through the education department for the kids to take home.

This will give those inside packaging the soap a sense of continued connection with community knowing that they are helping look after the kids. They also learn about the importance of using soap.

Kind regards
